IT PAYS TO BUY THE BEST

Look to the Food You Eat.

To Every Lady

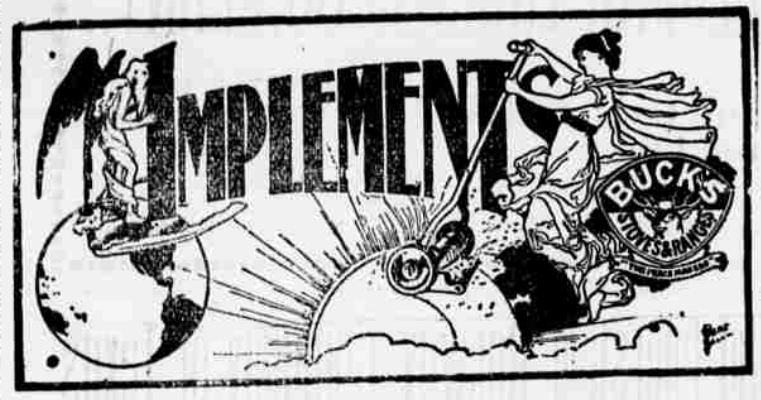

visiting our store we will give the current issue of "What to Eat," the most beautiful, artistic and reliable epicurean magazine in the world. We have made arrangements to procure this magazine for distribution each month, as we believe the time has come when great interest should be taken in the subject of pure foods, and we know of no other publication of prominence that has taken so honest a stand in its opposition to adulterated and fraudulent goods of every kind. Then, too, in addition to this, "What to Eat" is the only entertaining magazine on the food subject published in this country, its pages being full of suggestions for entertaining, jests for the table, bright stories and practical menus and recipes, and, in fact, all topics of value, not only to every housewife, but to the gentlemen of the household and club. The merit and standing of the magazine may be realized from the thousands of flattering newspaper notices of the press in all parts of the world. Here are a few:

"A most artistic and excellent magazine."—Paris edition of the New York Herald.
"Almost good enough to eat."—Philadelphia Call.
"Printed exquisitely, illustrated delightfully."—London Epicure.
"In every way superb."—Boston Globe.
"Unique in its conception and artistic excellence."—Christian Intelligencer.
"Bright and interesting as usual."—Omaha Bee.
"In many respects it leads many of the popular magazines."—Scranton Republican.

THE NEW ORLEANS TRAGEDY.

New Orleans, La., July 28.—After a most desperate battle, lasting for several hours, and in which he succeeded in killing Sergeant Gabriel Porteous, Andrew Van Kuren, keeper of the police jail, and Alfred J. Bloomfield, a young boy; fatally wounding Corporal John F. Lally, John Banville, ex-Policeman Frank H. Evans, A. S. Leclerc one of the leading confectioners of the city, and more or less seriously wounding several other citizens, the negro desperado, Robert Charles, who killed Captain Day and Patrolman Lamb and badly wounded Officer Mora, was smoked out of his hiding place in the heart of the residence section of the city and literally shot to pieces yesterday afternoon.

The tragedy was one of the most remarkable in the history of the city, and 20,000 people, soldiers, policemen and citizens, were gathered around the square in which Charles was finally put to death. Tremendous excitement reigned in New Orleans as the battle went on between the police and citizens and the negro with his Winchester.

After the tragedy was over and Charles was dragged from the mud and slush in which he had fallen, with the mob howling for the burning of his body, statements were made that the man killed was not really the desperado who killed Day and Lamb, but papers found on his person and the fact that he fought so desperately for his life, and shot so accurately, seem to leave little doubt that the right man was put to death. Ultimately it was concluded by those handling the situation that the only way to get Charles at all was to burn the building in which he was entrenched. There were, however, some scruples about resorting to this method of getting him, owing to the extremely thick populated section in which the house was situated. Nevertheless it was determined that the fire department should be called out in order to protect surrounding property in case it should be resolved to burn the building. At the moment of the decision some went to a neighboring grocery, purchased a can of oil, and pouring it over the rear steps of the building, applied a match, and soon had the building in flames. So fiercely did the fire burn that it became evident that no human being could live in the building, and picked men from the police, special squad members of the soldiery, stationed themselves about the building in order to pick off the desperado as he attempted to leave the house. A young soldier named Adolph Anderson, a member of the Thirtieth company of the state militia, was one of the first to see Charles as he ran down the steps leading to the second story. Charles ran across the yard and entered the second room. He fired several times at Anderson and the latter who was armed with a Winchester rifle, shot the negro in the breast and he fell and died soon afterward.

As soon as the negro fell numbers of people armed with Winchester and revolvers, rushed in and fired into the body. Charles was literally shot to pieces. After it was certain he was dead a mob entered the yard and dragged the body into the street. There the police and the mob emptied their revolvers into it, while a son of one of the murdered men rushed up and stamped the face beyond recognition.

ANOTHER MASSACRE STORY.

London, July 28.—A correspondent manages the Russian bank here, has received a letter from their Chwang correspondent, stating that one of the Chinese representatives in Peking had just arrived and confirmed the story of the massacre. He said that Sir Robert Hart, in despair, and knowing what he might expect if captured committed suicide. Although this man was tortured he stuck to his story, repeating his statement that all the ministers had been murdered. He also said, that seeing death inevitable as the Chinese swarmed to the embassies the foreigners killed their families to save them falling into the hands of the Boxers.

MINISTER WU PRESENTS AN IMPERIAL EDICT.

Washington, July 28.—The following official bulletin was posted at the state department this morning: The Chinese minister called this morning at the state department and communicated a copy of an imperial edict of July 24, received by him from Director General Sheng through the Chinese minister at London. The edict states that fortunately all the ministers except the German are alive and unharmed. They are now being supplied with vegetables, fruit and provisions by the government to show its sympathy.

THE VICEROY'S ULTIMATUM.

Shanghai, July 18.—War or the protection of the empire dowager and the unity of the empire is the alternative presented to the powers by the powerful viceroys of the Yang Tse province. The ultimatum of the viceroy is that there shall be no partitioning of China and that the person of the empress dowager shall be held sacred; otherwise the present attitude of the viceroys will be changed. Until now the viceroys have professed friendship for the foreigners.

COLOR SCHOOL BUILDING BURNED.

New Orleans, July 28.—All through the night the officers fought a mob that set out to fire the houses of the negroes in the vicinity of Tchoupitoulas and Amelia streets. They finally drove off the rioters. About thirty tenements were on fire at one time, but before the deputies got control the splendid Lafon school building was burned to the ground. It accommodated 800 colored children.
